MAJOR BAKER & MCKENZIE FITOUT COMPLETED ON TIME

Baker and McKenzie is the world's leading global law firm providing sophisticated legal advice and services to many of the world's most dynamic global organizations.

The Edwards fitout team completed the fitout of the new Sydney offices in December 2004.

The project was won at competitive lump sum tender. It consisted of a staged fitout in an occupied building with strict deadlines for completion of each stage and demanding quality requirements.

The special, "client service" floor on level 27 included:

- A reception area with timber floors and a granite counter; timber, fabric and glass panels and a feature timber screen
- A commercial kitchen equipped for the preparation of quality cuisine
- Boardroom and meeting rooms with strict acoustic requirements

Many of the meeting rooms contain video conferencing facilities, detailed joinery, fabric and timber paneling and extensive specialist building services.

All stages were completed to program with no disruption to the client's operations.

EDWARDS FITOUT WINS ANOTHER PRESTIGIOUS AWARD

In November 2004, the Qantas Club Lounge project at the Sydney Domestic Terminal won the Master Builders Association Excellence in Construction Award for interior fitouts ($5m-$15m). The Edwards fitout team completed this demanding, two-stage, high quality project in near impossible time in 2003.

Qantas clearly indicated its delight at the high standards of quality achieved and our ability to meet their deadlines without detriment to security and airline customer services.

This issue celebrates the outstanding achievements of our fitout division on some recent high profile and demanding projects.

These achievements are clear reminders of the unique position our fitout division occupies in the Australian interiors sector. With our long Rintoul tradition, we have stood for dependability, certainty and high value in fitouts since 1965. The projects showcased in this letter prove that this continues today. The certainty we create especially applies to high quality, timely delivery and no disputes.

The Baker & McKenzie project was a special success because we were able to focus on the issues most important to the client and deliver an excellent result. We minimised disruption, maximised quality and completed the complex stages on time by staffing the project with highly experienced and client-focused project and supervisory staff.

Our industry peers have recognised the extraordinary accomplishments on the Qantas Lounge project where the client's strict time constraints were solved by working around the clock in three shifts.

We are also pleased with the results of the Australian Customs fitout where the time requirements were also very demanding.

We look forward to being involved in your next fitout and delivering similar successes for you.

Best wishes for Christmas and business success in the New Year!
